

Like every other agency under the current administration, the FCC has become a biased political organ for the party in power. Nothing demonstrates this more clearly than the current debate over Sinclair Broadcasting's attempt to force its 62 stations to pre-empt paid broadcasting and run a political advertisement against John Kerry.

I do not expect this biased FCC to do anything but endorse this outrageous and possibly illegal action by the owners of Sinclair. However, I do wish to register my opposition and my outrage over the commission members' failure to take action in this matter. You may be following the dictates of Karl Rove and those who named you to these high-paying positions, but you have violated your oaths of office and you have betrayed the trust expected of people named to such positions.
